

CSIRO's Data61 is Australia's data innovation network that transforms existing industries and creates new ones through the application of science and technology. As an applied R&D partner, Data61's capabilities range from cybersecurity, confidential computing, IoT, robotics, machine learning and analytics, software and programming to behavioural sciences and more.

www.data61.csiro.au